The assimilation of an Education and the acquirement of an active intellectual ambition is not only the result of qualitative instruction but must be inspired in the student; the men that leave us, as students, with the greatest impression, are those that approach us not only through the medium of scholarly example but that lend to their endeavors a touch of the personal and the informal. This, the 53rd volume of the CALYX, is dedicated to a man and an exemplary scholar, who through the personal warmth and informal approach, which permeates all his classes and relationship with the students, has achieved the unanimous and wholehearted admiration of every class entering and departing from Washington and Lee. It is with these accomplishments in mind, that we proudly dedicate this book to a companion in our scholarly endeavors.

To the Class of 1950:

I wish it were possible for me, in my mood of prophetic admiration for you, to say that before each of you lies all fulfillment of dreams. No sane man could venture such a promise with any measure of assurance.

More confidently, however, I can express my belief that Washington and Lee years have done important things for you. Aspirations have been validated in terms of the long and sometimes dreary test; disciplines of fidelity have been enforced; horizons of truth and beauty—Mr. Keats insisted they are one and the same—have been pushed back and made radiant; some new scale of value has been proposed to you; and you have walked for this brief term in honor and in gentleness.

Mr. Masefield had a lovely idea, that it is really the happy hours which make us wise. He believed, too, that these happy hours, held securely in memory, are "bursting founts" that refresh the heart when it grows dusty or barren, and hint that somewhere, beyond our transient things, there is a world "gated by golden moments."

Thus I hope for you that the happy hours of your college life will forever be flowing of living waters into refreshing and greeness of all the years to come.

THE SOUTHERN COLLEGIANS

Four years ago this band was formed on the Washington and Lee campus by Chap Boyd. Since that time, it has become popular as a "combo," playing at the various house parties and social functions throughout this area.

Each year brought changes in the membership, but the group has been successful in maintaining the same style, society music. This year the band consisted of six instrumentalists: Frank Love, on the trumpet; Selden McNeer, on the alto sax; Al Hoeser, on the guitar; Randall Bradley, on the piano; Ray Coates, on the drums; with Chap Boyd, on the trombone.

Since Chap's graduation in February, Frank Love has been leading the band with much success, and it is hoped that it will continue to hold its campus popularity in the future years.

The band is probably best known for its danceable arrangements of such old favorites as "Tuxedo Junction," "Boyd's Blues," "Body and Soul," "Penthouse Serenade," and "Star Dust."

COACH GEORGE BARCLAY

Football Under New Management

When George Barclay set up shop at Washington and Lee in the spring of 1949, there was much speculation as to what sort of team he could put on the field by September. He had ability, he had experience, he had a good staff, and he had the material.

In looking at the 1949 record we feel that Barclay has done well. To those that may question this by merely pointing to the 3-5-1 average, our answer lies only in mentioning the brand of ball that was unveiled by the former All-American from North Carolina. It was a different team that carried the Blue and White into conflict. Their spirit was good, their blocking was true, the offense off the split-T was superb. To be sure there was a sputter in the smooth functioning of the team at times, but on the whole we can be proud of an aggregation that played such excellent ball.

In the pages that follow we have tried to portray each game as we saw it. Sometime we have looked good in defeat. At other times the game was not the best. As a student it is difficult without bias, but such has been our aim to give a true picture of Washington and Lee football in 1949.

George Barclay's revamped Generals, operating under the split-T, opened the 1949 season by mauling Furman University, 27-7, in Greenville, South Carolina. There was a victory parade staged by the Furman students Friday morning and the spirit of the Purple Hurricane raged through the streets of Greenville, but that night there was another parade . . . this time on the gridiron, and led by Gil Bocetti, the W&L quarterback. At the final gun the vaunted Purple Hurricane was reduced to a mere "lavender breeze." The Generals walked off the field as the team of the week.

W&L, known last year for its aerial circus unveiled a ground attack that drove the South Carolinians right out of the stadium. Team captains Bennett and Fahey both played excellent games, but it was 18 year old Gil Bocetti that showed the older hands a thing or two. Playing under the center slot he scored one TD personally and set up another with a 34 yard pass to Fahey. It was his generalship that garnered him the "back of the week" award in the Old Dominion.

Bocetti plunges over for third W&L touchdown

W&L's scores came on drives of 85, 75, 75, and 89 yards. Gene Bennett scored the first, Marler the second, Bocetti the third and Wally Oref the last.

Furman was in the ball game only at the first. They marched down the field after taking the opening kick-off, but from there on couldn't make a nickle.

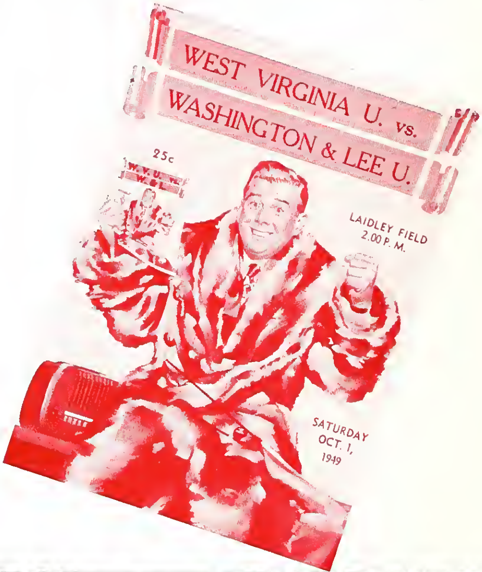
Marler is choked up after lateraling to Oref, Fergusson laments



Against West Virginia's monstrous Mountaineers the Big Blue did not roll as on the previous weekend. However, those who saw the game will agree that W&L played very good football. Making the most of every opportunity, the difference in score was but a touchdown. The big rugged Mountaineers, with as large a line as found in college football, overpowered the Generals who had far the lighter team.

Game captains John Kay and Joe McCutcheon, performing before a home town crowd in Charleston, West Virginia, turned in a full afternoon against the college on the hill. The West Virginia team racked up two touchdowns in the first two stanzas, and it appeared that the Generals would not be able to stem the tide of brawn that came thundering down the field. But an ex-trackman, Jim Gallivan, took the kick-off after the second West Virginia score and raced 84 yards in the most spectacular event of the afternoon to that virgin territory behind the Mountaineer goal line. The fire caught in the W&L team, and by virtue of Dave Waters interception of a flat pass, the score was 14-14 at the half.

GIL BOCETTI
Back

In the second half the decisive factor was the hard charging line of the boys from Morgantown. Two scores were ground, but after Michaels had crucified the great Walthall with one of his bone-crushing tackles.

Our last touchdown was a gift. With two men covering Gallivan on the two yard line, Bocetti let fly a long pass. Interference was ruled and the ball was punched over two plays later.

W & L . . 0; GEORGIA TECH . . 36

The reports from Atlanta were that the Generals played good ball against the Yellowjackets but were completely outclassed by this perennial Southeast Conference power. The Tech team dominated the play in the second and fourth periods, scoring all their points then. It was 20-0 five minutes before the end of the game, but 16 fast points, including a touchdown on the last play ran the score up to 36.

During the first and third quarters the teams fought on more less even terms, but W&L offense was never very effective. The only bright spot was a 68 yard jaunt by Gene Bennett which crossed the double stripe, only to be called back by a penalty.

It was a case of the adept, light, fast, team running circles around a heavier, slower, but game bunch. The defeat was not a disgrace, but it again reminded us of the fact that it might be better to stay in our own class so that the reputation of the opponent would not over-awe a good team and cause them to permit such things as two touchdowns and a safety in a period of five minutes.

SCOTT STADIUM OCTOBER 15, 1949

The score was 27-7 in favor of the Wahoos but that doesn't tell the story. Almost every player on the Blue squad deserves praise for turning in an excellent performance.

It took a fumble, a dribble, and a rainbow pass—all in one play—to give the Cavaliers their first score. A fumble on the 8 yard line set up the third, and the last score was on a fantastic 80 yard pass and run on the last play of the game. We can concede but one truly earned touchdown to Virginia—that on a 52 yard dash by John Papit.

Besides their one successful touchdown drive the Generals made two other thrusts deep into Wahoo territory, and it took the full might of the Virginia line to stop these attacks short of their intended destination. Defensively Crawford and Fahey did an especially splendid job of turning the end plays which caused us so much trouble last year.

The Virginia score on the last play of the game was a pass to Bessel who had gotten behind the secondary. As he neared the goal line Bob Smith, W&L tackle, who was going toward the dressing room could not resist the urge to rush out on the field and crush the escaping Wahoo to the turf. The play still resulted in a Virginia touchdown, but no one noted Smith was the 23rd man on the field until movies of the game were shown the following week. The incident was voted the football oddity of the year, but actually, what is odd about a W&L man desiring to smash a Wahoo?

George Washington University and Washington and Lee put on as thrilling a game of football as Capitol fans have seen in many a moon in their meeting in October.

Before the crowd was settled, each team had scored. W&L took the opening boot and marched 69 yards for its first tally, with Leister traveling the last 25 to pay dirt. One minute and forty seconds later the Colonials roared back to knot the count after recovering a fumble on the General 43.

In the second quarter, Barclay's split-T began clicking again as Bocetti passed and ran to lead an 84 yard drive to the land of points. Trammel scored this time on a 17 yard pass from Gil. But "an eye for an eye" seemed to be the word of the day, and GW again stormed the length of the field to rack up another seven. At intermission the score was 14-12 in favor of the Buffmen.

A fumble on the General 46 resulted in another score for GW in the third period. Andy Davis passed for the tally, the point was good and the Colonials had 21.

The General's last score came on a powerful offensive drive of 99 yards in the last quarter, with Bocetti sneaking over for the six-pointer. The kick was good, but the whistle soon blew and the Washingtonians came out on top, 21-19.

DAVIDSON . . 0

At Wilson field on October 29, George "bring em back alive" Barclay and his inspired band of wild animal tamers ensnared the hapless Wildcats from Davidson in a trap of brilliant passing, devastating running, and jarring defensive play.

Five minutes after the opening kick-off, Gil Bocetti romped 69 yards for the first of many W&L scores that day. A short time later the Generals came back for another visit, with Gene Bennett taking it over this time from ten yards out. Early in the second stanza, the Blue and White made it twenty, as Bocetti passed to Hedge in the end zone. Before the intermission bell rang, the score was 27-0 as Michaels intercepted a Davidson pass, and Bocetti took it over a few plays later.

Three minutes after the third quarter got underway, the dynamic W&L quarterback did it again, this time from the two. A pass to Trammel set up the sixth W&L score, with Hank Mastrianni taking it the last three.

In the fourth period, Vic Marler took the point honors, scoring on a thirteen yard end run and on a 78 yard pass play just 20 seconds before the final gun ended the slaughter. The final score —53 to nothing.

Municipal Stadium — Lynchburg, Va. — November 5, 1949

It was a cold and bleak day in Lynchburg when the Gobblers of Virginia Tech, winless in seventeen starts, up and smashed their way to a 6-6 tie with favored Washington and Lee. It was VPI most of the way. The farmers from Blacksburg unleashed some hard running backs that ripped the Big Blue line time and again. Tech's quarterback, Bud Fisher, was easily the outstanding man on the field. He completed six out of nine passes and was the brains behind the attack. Also, a punting average of 48 yards kept the Generals back in their own territory a good part of the time.

Leister chased by Kernan

Fumbles, penalties, and lack of blocking in the secondary stalled the W&L attack. The lone score for them came on a sneak by Bocetti in the fourth quarter after a long sustained drive. Micheals placement was wide to the right and the Generals were lucky to get off with a tie.

In the first quarter Tech should have had another score, but a fumble on the six gave W&L the ball.

The passing attack that was so lethal the week before against Davidson was nil against Tech. Only one out of six attempts was completed. It was just too cold for the red hot Generals. They couldn't throw the ball, catch it, or hold on to it.

W & L . . . . 7
DELAWARE . . 13

The University of Delaware displayed one of the best coached aggregations to play on Wilson Field in many a moon as they had the Generals completely baffled for the first period, scoring easily both times they got their hands on the ball. The offense operated off a modified double wingback formation with the halfback up under the center as in the T formation. It appeared that W&L scouted Delaware during the first quarter of the game for the Big Blue just didn't know what to do. On the other hand, the Generals were so well scouted that when the W&L halfback spread to the left, the Blue Hens did not even bother to cover him. Bocetti had not passed to Holt all season, nor did he that afternoon.

After the first stanza, the W&L offense began to roll, but the Delaware defense tightened when the chips were down. Three long marches were halted within smelling distance of the goal. Vic Marler eventually scored, and that was the ball game, 13-7. When the whistle blew, the Hens were on the General six.

RICHMOND . . 14

The 1949 football season ended with as spectacular a display as that with which it began. In their last outing the Blue warriors stomped to a 35-14 victory over the Spiders of Richmond. The victory gave W&L third place in the Southern Conference with a record of three wins, one loss, and a tie. Just four points kept the Generals from having a perfect record in the circuit. It was a fine season for George Barclay in his first year at the helm.

Standouts were Walt Micheals, shifted to offense for the Turkey Day game, and Joe McCutcheon, All-State center, who plays both offense and defense.

The Spiders came out strong to get the first score, just as Furman did in the first skirmish of the season. But when the Big Blue got rolling they did not stop. Marler slashed off tackle for the first score. Richmond struck back, but Bocetti got the ball rolling again and went over from 18 yards out a few minutes later.

In the third canto, Joe McCutcheon intercepted a pass and carried his 200 pound hulk over the goal in nothing flat. Hank Mastrianni, playing his last game in a Blue uniform, added the fourth W&L tally. And just to make sure, Bocetti sneaked over in the last quarter. Micheals had a perfect day with the conversions, making five for five.

A New Basketball regime begins

For the third time in as many years, the Washington and Lee basketball team was under the reins of a new coach. This year Conn Davis, former mentor at McCallie Prep School in Chattanooga was in charge. Considering the handicap of being a new coach at a new school, and in lieu of the stiff competition which the Comets were forced to meet, their record of eight wins against twelve losses could have been worse.

Although they were never a serious threat in the Southern Conference, Washington and Lee did pull a few surprising upsets. Early in the season, the Deacons of Wake

Handlan hits

Forest fell victims of an aggressive Comet five, 61-54, and later in the campaign Davis' quintet rolled over a strong Virginia Tech squad, 73-69. Both VPI and Wake Forest later made the Southern Conference tournament in Durham, North Carolina. We also played the finalists in that tournament, Duke and N. C. State, but the outcomes were the same in both—we lost.

As was expected, Jay Handlan was by far the outstanding performer for the Comets. He was also well up among the forwards in the state and conference, winning a post on the All-State five selected by the various coaches in the state. Handlan set a new school record by scoring 406 points in a single season. He also established a new NCAA record in the last game of the year by tossing in 18 out of 18 foul shots.

One of the few other noble feats accomplished by the Generals, but a very noble one to all Washington and Lee fans, was the capture of two wins from the University of Virginia's Wahoos, 68-62 and 95-83. Most of us will agree that this almost made the season a success anyway.

And so as the curtain fell on the 1949-50 basketball season, a wee small voice was heard from the depths of Doremus Gymnasium, softly crying: "Maybe next year."

O. B. DAY
Coach

Wrestling

The third major sport to undergo a complete change in its coaching staff was wrestling. The new coach mentor of the Southern Conference champions was O. B. ("Obie") Day, and he inherited a pretty rugged job. Let us say here that he did well—very well. For although the grapplers did not run up as impressive a record as they had done the two years before, they came home with the bacon so to speak, in the form of their third successive Southern Conference championship. This crushed all doubts in the minds of many that the Generals were not still the best team in the circuit. They proved their worth conclusively, and we take our hats off to Coach Day and his boys for a job well done. It is never easy to change horses in the middle of the stream and still keep your head above water.

The matmen started off the season by losing to Lehigh and Franklin-Marshall, two of the strongest teams in the country. Hampered by injuries, the Generals returned home to put on their first show before the dubious Washington and Lee fans. Realizing that appeasement was necessary, Coach Day's boys proceeded to wallop the Mountaineers of West Virginia, 25-7. Prestige had temporarily been regained.

N. C. State was next on the list, and the matmen continued their winning ways by soundly trouncing the Wolfpack, 22-8, to gain their first conference win. After scoring in their second win over Maryland, the grapplers took to the road, much to their regret, barely tieing an underdog Auburn squad and losing, 19-9, to Appalachian State Teachers College. The hero of this otherwise long and fruitless journey was Jerry Jack, who scored a pin over his heavyweight opponent in the last bout with Auburn to eke out a tie.

Back in the old Dominion again, the Generals felt much more at ease on the canvas and rolled over two more conference rivals, The Citadel and V.P.I., to remain undefeated in that league.

With that victory gleam in their eyes, the Generals then crossed the Potomac river into Yankee land and avenged defeats of some 87 years ago by taking two strong Baltimore squads, Johns Hopkins and the Baltimore Y.M.C.A., 19-11 and 17-11, respectively.

Doremus Gymnasium welcomed the winning warriors of the canvas, and several hundred enthusiastic W&L fans watched Coach Day's charges complete an unblemished conference slate by showing the lights to the University of North Carolina, 23-3.

The only thing left now was to bring home another conference title, which the Generals proceeded to do in short order. When the finals rolled around, W&L had five men fighting for individual titles. When it was over, three of them had won, and the Generals had 30 points and another Southern Conference championship.

weights for two straight years in the tourney, were forced to relinquish their crowns. Ted Lonegran, who lost the title last year after winning it in 1948, put on the steam to re-capture his laurels in a different weight class. The two new champs were Howie Davis in the 121 lb. class and Jerry Jack in the heavyweight division.

All of these winners have another year to go in Blue tights, the only graduate being Bill Metzel in the 175 lb. class. With such men as Paul Weill, Jim Kidd, and several good freshmen to fill in the gaps, Washington and Lee looks like a contender for the title for several years yet to come.

Baseball

Under the guidance of their veteran coach, Capt. Dick Smith, the baseball team turned in a record of eight wins as compared with ten defeats during the 1949 campaign. Meeting such nationally prominent teams as Wake Forest, Michigan, Georgetown, and the Quantico Marines, the followers of Mr. Doubleday played a hot and cold brand of ball, performing like champions in some games, hitting low ebbs in others.

After opening the season with a convincing 6-1 victory over Springfield College, the only P. E. department with an A. B. school, the nimble nine moved South during the Spring vacation with disastrous results. Wake Forest, North Carolina, and Richmond pounded the W&L hurlers without mercy. Back in Lexington, Furman was edged 4-3, and mighty Michigan was upset 6-3.

The next three games were decided by a margin of one run. W&L took Georgetown 7-6, dropped a 7-6 decision to Maryland, and eked out a 5-4 win over little Ohio U. After two consecutive losses to William and Mary and the Marines of Quantico, the Generals rose up to bash the Wahoos by 6-3. Those less enthusiastic students declared the season a success and came no more to Wilson Field to see a ball game—besides it was too cold a Spring anyway.

Captain Brian Bell, Fred Vinson, and Charlie Agner led the team at the plate. On the hill Jim Maver, a freshman star, was outstanding. Leslie and Putney proved their prowess at hurling the spheroid in the vicinity of the plate. Coach Smith calls Bell the best first baseman that he has coached. Bell was named on the All-State team.

Led by Captain Pete White the General track team competed in four dual meets and in the Big Six sectional meet. Although the Blue and White only won over Randolph-Macon and dropped to V.P.I., Richmond University, and William & Mary the scores of those meets were very close. William & Mary and Richmond, both, outpointed the team by only six points, while the V.P.I. score was of a larger margin. In the Big Six Conference Meet the Generals were fifth out of six competing teams.

White, hurdler, was the outstanding performer, winning constantly in the dual meets; Wally Oref was the most improved member of the squad shining in the shot-put, and javelin. Gallivan led the speedsters and Van Leer and Gaulding the distance runners.

COACH ANDERSON

Crew

With the coming of Coach Anderson as the first full time coach of this sport at W&L, the General boatmen made a successful debut in big time racing with competition with such teams as Boston U., Pennsylvania U., and entrance in the Dad Vail Regetta. Much interest and spirit produced an above average season with wins over Yale "B," Amherst, Tampa U., and Marietta; while losses were to Boston, Pennsylvania, and Rutgers. In the Dad Vail Regetta the Generals came in third behind Boston College and Rollins, but ahead of Dartmouth, Marietta, Amherst, and A.I.C.

Coach Norm Lord's cross country team had a comparatively successful season this year. Winning two and losing three. Throughout the season Echols Hansbarger was the mainstay of the team. "Ech," one of the best runners in the Southern Conference is just a sophomore and great things are expected of him the next two years. Coach Lord is anticipating a better record next year due to the return of five lettermen and an excellent crop of freshmen.

Lacrosse

Although the final record of three wins and eight losses sounds none too impressive, the stickmen from W&L were highly regarded among the experts. As evidence of this four of the Generals received recognition as being among the top players in the nation. Bill Pacy, always superb on the defense, and Bill Clements, one of the best goalies in the business, were placed on the third string All-American Lacrosse Team. Tommy Tongue and Jim McDonald received honorable mention. There were few breathers on the schedule. Such schools as Rensselaer, whose team competed in the past Olympic games, and Maryland which draws from Baltimore, the lacrosse capital of the world, kept the Big Blue from garnishing an impressive showing in the win-loss columns in spite of excellent play.

Soccer

Washington and Lee's Soccer team, under the direction of Coach Norm Lord, completed its third year of intercollegiate competition, after its inauguration here in 1946. Though the seasons record of 2 wins and 7 losses was far below that of previous campaigns, the team played good ball only to be plagued by injuries to key players. The loss of both Captain Jim Trundle and Dick Rosenfield for more than half the season was keenly felt by the squad. They dropped three games by virtue of a fourth quarter goal.

Despite the fact that seven lettermen will graduate in June, the team should be bolstered by the advancement of a good freshman squad led by Bill Whiney and Dick Dill. This pair sparked the first year squad to a successful season.

At the annual soccer banquet, Jim Trundle was elected captain for the fourth consecutive year. That was but simple tribute to the fact that his excellent playing ability is surpassed only by his superb leadership on the field.

Next year, O. B. Day, who was in an assistants capacity this year, will be in charge of the booters.

Tennis

W&L's 1949 net squad did not experience a very successful season, losing seven and tieing one out of eight matches. Lack of experience and the fact that they were playing some of the better teams in the country hindered progress in the winning of matches. One of the features of the schedule was the match with William and Mary's national championship team which has won eighty-two consecutive encounters without a setback.

By gaining a great deal of experience during the eight melees, and with a promising group of freshmen coming up, things should be much brighter for the racket men of 1950.

Cy Twombly's golf team again proved to be a winning combination losing to only three schools. The University of Virginia defeated us twice. A surprisingly strong Ohio U. team turned the trick on the Lexington links once. VPI, the best in the state, took the measure of the Generals once, but could manage only a 4½ to 4½ tie in a thrilling rematch. Against these four defeats and a tie, the squad gained six victories to finish with a percentage of .634.

Swimming

In the swimming department, Coach Cy Twombly did it again. The nators once again turned in a splendid season, scoring four impressive wins and losing only one meet—to a powerful Virginia Tech outfit in the last contest of the season. Captain Ed Rushton's enthusiasm was also an important factor in the record achieved by the tankmen.

Kappa Alpha Order founded at Washington and Lee . . . 1865, while Robert E. Lee was president. Although Lee was not a member of the Order, it was born and developed under his watchful eye, and the seventy three now existing chapters carry on in his example of gracious and knightly life.

Personality and character of the individual has always been the chief concern of Kappa Alpha . . . yet, its members have distinguished themselves in campus activities . . . K.A.'s have participated in various varsity sports . . . worked on campus publications . . . and held responsible positions in campus Christian organizations . . . the freshmen have been especially active in school affairs. Nor have studies been neglected . . . several members are on the honor roll . . . and others hold university scholarships. Social events are an important part of college life; the K.A.'s had rush parties . . . formal and informal house parties . . . and dances . . . and open house during university dance sets. Outstanding among our house-parties was the annual Christmas party . . . complete with Santa and tree. By combining our athletic, scholastic, religious, and social experiences, one can easily see we have enjoyed a well rounded year.

| JACK ANDREW CROWDER | President |
| RICHARD WASHBURN HYNSON, JR. | Vice-President |
| JAMES HUNTER LANE, JR. | Secretary |
| JAMES CALDWELL LEE | Treasurer |

Virginia Sigma of Sigma Alpha Epsilon was founded in 1867, during the presidency of Robert E. Lee ... Frank Bell Webb, a transfer student from Ole Miss, where he had recently been initiated into the Fraternity, got lonesome for his brethren, and so decided to establish a chapter here ... Surviving the rigors of a one man rush-week, this original W&L Sig Alphian still had enough left to conduct a one man initiation ceremony (they were tough in those days) ... Webb ... and those six initiates kept the spark alive during the bleak reconstruction, and Virginia Sigma prospered ... today it is one of the most active of the one hundred-fifteen chapters making up the national organization.

Since that humble beginning, the chapter has grown steadily and now has an active membership of around sixty-five men ... one of the larger houses on the campus ... a very essential element in any fraternity house are campus bigwigs, of which we have our share: our eminent Archon (head man), Jack Crowder, president of ODK and a Phi Beta Kappa is only one of the campus hierarchy residing at Sigalphia ... in spite of his numerous scholarly attainments. Jack is no bookworm although he spends a great deal of time in the Hollins library ... Sam Hollis is president of Opening Dances, ODK, War Memorial Scholarship committeeman, and swimming team, is among the more prominent wheels . . . Charlie Bradshaw, Secretary of the Christian Council and a Vice President of Opening Dances ... among the varsity athletes are Jim Carpenter, Frank Davidson, and Dan Boone ... footballers ... Henry Jones promising forward of the Blue Comets ... Eddie Streuli, infielder on the baseball team ... Jim Gallivan, dash man both on cinders and the gridiron ... and Dick Hynson, house veep and lusty oar-puller for Coach Anderson's crew.

Leadership is a distinguishing characteristic of Phi Gamma Delta, and no better chapter exemplifies this than Washington and Lee's Zeta Deuteron.

This year under the stalwart leadership of Fancy Dress President Art Wood, the Chapter again won first place in Homecomings decorations. Other outstanding events of the year included . . . the Fancy Dress Party . . . the Jeff Duo . . . and a prominent position in intramural athletics. Fijis also have many numerous lettermen in varsity sports.

Phi Gams are proud of their long and successful history. Soon after its birth at Washington and Jefferson College in 1848, the Fraternity began to expand . . . today 79 active chapters and 50,000 members place Phi Gamma Delta among the nation's largest fraternities.

The Fijis have long enjoyed a reputation for sound government and efficiency of internal organization . . . a national convention held every 18-24 months, is the governing body of the Fraternity. An extensive field secretary system and numerous publications serve as liaisons between the national organization and the individual chapters.

The Fijis have been prominent in all walks of life . . . including in their fold such notables as President Calvin Coolidge . . . Vice Presidents T. R. Marshall . . . and C. W. Fairbanks, Secretary of War Newton P. Baker . . . and innumerable senators . . . congressmen . . . military leaders . . . college presidents (President F. P. Gaines of this University) . . . governors . . . clergymen . . . authors . . and scientists.

Seventy-six years ago . . . founded at Washington and Lee . . . became the third national Kappa Sigma chapter. Since its founding . . . Mu Chapter has always played a bright role in the life of the university and all its activities.

Weathered the war crisis . . . building up from scratch at the war's end . . . regained the high position that we enjoyed pre-war . . . since '46, Mu has been instrumental in every phase of social and academic life . . . two dance set presidents . . . an editor of the "Ring-tum Phi" . . . numerous class officers . . representatives in ODK and Phi Beta Kappa . . . and members and leaders of other activities have been furnished by the fraternity. Scholastically . . . usually rank far above the all-men's average and in the top bracket in fraternities' average grade ratios.

Important positions occupied by Mu brothers include . . . Bernie Talley, served as president of the Interfraternity Council . . . and brother Hack Heyward, who did a fine job as Fancy Dress vice president . . . Bo Wall, president of the freshman law class and Phil Robbins acted as vice president of the sophomore class. Troubadours were fortunate in having Austin Hunt . . . other Kappa Sigs playing minor parts . . . the high social standing of the house was maintained by a formal house party in the spring and with other informal parties and picnics.

Besides being prominent, Mu is also a fraternity . . . genuine fellowship exists among her men . . . a good share of the truly home-like atmosphere must be given to our wonderful housemother, Mrs. W. J. Jordan . . . she has added that final touch that gives true zest to everything we do . . . and her appreciation of the honors which the chapter has gained is a treasured and honored feeling . . . she is our "mom."

Founded at V. M. I. . . . 1869 . . . by James Hopkins, James Riler, and Greenfield Quarles . . by 1882, Lambda Chapter at Washington and Lee had been founded and Isaac Robinson had become its first member.

Lehigh . . . first university above Mason-Dixon to receive a charter . . . now there are 101 active chapters with 20,000 members.

Lambda chapter is the oldest active chapter left in the Fraternity . . . only seven other fraternities have been on the campus longer than Sigma Nu.

Brothers on this campus have always been leaders, this year has been no exception . . . both Commander Cliff Latta and ex-Commander Tom Pressley were political leaders . . . as were Jim Connelly, Mike Radulovic and others. Three brothers, Bill Clements, John French, and Dee Way were nominated to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Athletically . . . Mike Radulovic and Gil Bocetti were varsity football stars . . . Horace Dietrich starring on the soccer team . . . Jim Connelly, varsity wrestling . . . Don Steenberg, swimming, and in Lacrosse . . . Alex Hill, Bill Pacy, Bill Clements, Dave Ryer, and Jim Fenhagen.

Socially . . . nineteen pledges and a never-to-be forgotten "Roarin' Twenties" party.

Publications were other activities in which Sigma Nu's excelled . . . Dick Ballard, Business Manager of the "Southern Collegian" . . . Bill Wallace, Business Manager of the "Ring-tum Phi." Other lesser editorships were held by other brothers.

For the fourth year Mrs. Spence was our house mother. Jim Connelly was house manager and Press Manning was Chaplain. The secretary was Hal Hill and Alex Hill was sentinel.

Phi Delta Theta . . . founded at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio . . . December 26, 1848 by Robert Morrison and John McMillan Wilson. Today the organization boasts 110 active chapters and over 69,000 members.

Virginia Zeta was founded on December 12, 1887 by six far-seeing men. At this time the chapter has 495 men.

The earliest records available indicate that the Baptist parsonage on White Street served as the fraternity house for a long period of time . . . meetings were held over McCrums in what was called "Phi Delt Hall" . . . in 1920 the Phis moved into the house of Mrs. A. C. Lee, adjacent to the Washington and Lee campus . . . Mrs. Lee, who is well-known to many W&L alumni, served the fraternity as house mother for a period of twenty-three years.

Present house built in 1929 . . . on December 5th, when the last brick was laid, thirty brothers scrambled for their choice of rooms . . . house fully occupied until 1942, when the Army took it over in conjunction with a high toll levied by the Selective Service . . . February 1946, the house regained its civilian stature.

We resumed our regular course of collegiate activities in 1946 under the most capable guidance of our new house mother, Mrs. Lucy Booker Burlingame . . . since that date we have made several capital improvements in the house . . . and we have many plans for a successful and prosperous future.

Phi Kappa Sigma Fraternity was originally founded at the University of Pennsylvania in 1850 . . . it took however until 1894 for Washington and Lee to be graced with the Alpha Alpha chapter of Phi Kappa Sigma.

The original fraternity house was in the vicinity of the Student Union . . . around 1920 the Phi Kappa became the first fraternity on this campus to build their own house on the present site in Red Square.

The war interrupted fraternal activities as servicemen replaced members in the house on Jefferson Street . . . in 1945 things returned to normalcy . . . ever since then, Phi Kappa Sigma has been a tower of strength to all social functions on the campus.

Phi Chapter of Delta Tau Delta was established at Washington and Lee in 1896 ... throughout the years the Delts have maintained a high scholastic and activity achievement record.

If you walked into the Delt house you would be confronted by a number of students talking in small groups or participating in general horse play. Among them ... John McKelway, producer extraordinary, in collaboration with his advisors Gordon Sibley, and Roger Mudd, a member of the executive committee, Russ Applegate, and Jock Morrison, Editor of the "Ring-tum Phi" ... John Allen and Bill Corbin, would be whispering about lunch or dinner, while Ed Bassett, Junior Class president, and Pierre Robert would be smiling at Frank McDonald, secretary of the Sophomore Class.

In her fourth year at Phi Chapter, Mrs. Dalmar P. Blakely has done much to maintain the high standards of the fraternity ... her unselfish and devoted effort in refinishing our fire-destroyed house.

In athletics ... Jack Delahunty and Spence Snedacor are freshman football stars ... W. C. Bolen is on the soccer team ... while Morgan and Wilson Lear, and Irv Wicknick are all stellar grapplers ... Frank McDonald, on the swimming team ... while Roger Mudd and Bob Huntley represent the crew. Lacrosse equals Jim Gray, Tom Tongue, Wilson Lear, Dick Jones, Dave Bien, Tal Bond, and Bill Corbin. If its baseball you want, we have Don Schusk and Morgan Lear ... tennis, Bob Swinarton.

Rho chapter of Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity was chartered at Washington and Lee in mid-February, 1920 . . . Lawrence W. Davis, Louis W. Milbourne, Shirley J. Robbins, Wells H. Rutherford, and James R. Sims comprise the charter members of the chapter . . . at that time the national organization was only sixteen years old and consisted of thirteen chapters . . . essentially a southern group, for many years the fraternity has steadily expanded until now it is geographically represented over the entire nation . . . the fraternity now has forty-four closely united undergraduate and thirty-two alumni chapters.

The charter members of Rho Chapter are proud of what they started and well may be so . . . the "Pi Phi" brotherhood initiated by them on the Washington and Lee campus has been a close, compact group of students who have the same common interests which produce a spirit that can be truly labeled as fraternal . . . scholarship has always been the movement which they started has an important item in Pi Kappa Phi . . . been a strong educational force and source of fine friendships . . . it has lived through the years expanding and accumulating vitality.

Rho chapter is proud to claim as its own national president of the fraternity Howard D. Leake.

In the year 1919, six men formed an organization here at Washington and Lee which they called the Gamma Gamma Club . . . by 1920, the Gamma Gamma Club had joined the national ranks of Zeta Beta Tau as the Alpha Epsilon Chapter.

Since then Alpha Epsilon has grown in membership and prestige . . . until today it is a ranking fraternity at W & L with a house of thirty-seven men . . . the chapter's largest.

This past year has been one of Alpha Epsilon's most successful . . . the Zebes began the term by pledging twelve men and since then have played a prominent part in the University's many activities.

Our intramural teams, managed by varsity tennis player Sonny Shlesinger, have given a good account of themselves in every sport.

Jim Paradies and Hugh Jacobson have made names for themselves as presidents of Pi Alpha Nu and Spring Dances respectively, while in the scholastic line, Bob Mendelsohn was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

As each year passes, Alpha Epsilon continues to strive to make the members of the Gamma Gamma Club prouder of their creation.

Delta Chapter of Phi Epsilon Phi founded at Washington and Lee in 1920 . . . led campus scholastic standing for 13 out of 17 years . . . inactive during war, reactivated in '46 . . . 26 members at this time.

In June we lose intramural ace Buddy Lauphiemer, social lion Ronnie Levick, canasta addict Al Campbell, and Julie Shaivitz.

Active brothers remaining include: Joe Scher, three Troub productions to his credit, and Steve Lichtenstein, treasurer of the Forensic Union, while Hank Litchfield is pressed for time because of being Speaker of the Forensic Union and historian of the sophomore class. Letterman "Rosie" Rosenfield of the soccer team whose decorations now include mended bones and indistinguishable scars.

Scholastically . . . Jerry Holen, Mickey Abrash and Joe Bergenstein are members of Phi Eta Sigma while Sol Wachtler in his brilliant college career as Speaker of the Forensic Union, President of the Washington Literary Society and the IFC choice of the outstanding freshmen and then outstanding sophomore on the campus was properly climaxed by his initiation into ODK. Along the scholastic endeavor lines we must never forget Al Horowitz whose five A's left him so much time that he took over the job as house manager.

Twenty-seven years ago . . . 1922 . . . Gamma Phi of Lambda Chi Alpha was established on this campus. Since the chapter's establishment, the goal has always been fuller cooperation with the university and its students. Isolation has never been a Lambda Chi trait as increased participation in the social and intellectual life of the campus reflect the spirit of this fraternity.

Among the first Lambda Chi Alpha claims is the first Christmas party complete with gifts and Santa for the needy children of Lexington. Other fraternities are also now seeing the responsibility of a fraternity to its community and are also having Christmas parties for the needy Lexington children . . . believing this spirit of cooperation must exist between the student and his faculty the chapter was the first to sponsor regular student-faculty teas . . . this promotes a feeling of friendship and loyalty . . . the response which these teas have met from both students and faculty has been such as to make their promotion a tradition with the fraternity.

Participation and cooperation in the community, social, and intellectual life of Washington and Lee has become the keystone of Lambda Chi Alpha's approach to the traditional pattern of fraternity life . . . Lambda Chi Alpha on the campus of Washington and Lee looks forward to many years of helping itself by helping others.

WASHINGTON AND LEE DANCES

Against a royal blue background, many silver stars twinkled and watched as the Spring Dance set President, Bob Mauck and his date, Miss Nancy Nelson of Sweet Briar College led the figure of the Cotillion Club's Formal through the apple blossoms and past the bandstand, gayly decorated as a carousel. The couples danced to the smooth music of Bob Astor and his orchestra both Friday night and for the "13" Club's relaxing informal on Saturday night.

The conclusion of the year always carries with its nostalgic goodbyes, fond hopes for success and as Washington and Lee, the Finals dance set, the biggest and brightest time in the college year. The 1949 set was ably directed and led by Dale Johnson, accompanied in the figure by Evelyn Woods of Sweet Briar College. The entire tone of the weekend was not set, but accentuated by the restrained music of mastero Dean Hudson. All the pleasurable factors, from boat house race preparation to Kappa Sig beano preparation, contributed their part in making this season of the year a true climax for departing Seniors and their friends.

The richness of the Fall season with its pumpkin, noisy stadiums, rallying bonfires, and snappy weather was portrayed in the thematic "Harvest Moon Ball" of the Cotillion Club's Opening Dance set. Both the Sophomore Dance and the Cotillion Club dance gained much from the excellent dancing afforded by the presence of Tommy Tucker and his band. The Friday night figure was led by Class President Talbolt Trammell and his date, Miss Mimie Stephens, from Hollins College: the Cotillion figure, the following night was led by Club President Sam Hollis and his attractive companion Miss Mary Lee McGinnis of Memphis, Tennessee. Both evenings enjoyed unprecedented success.

The social season of 1949-50 was marked by the superlative in Dance sets and appropriately climaxed by the most memorable Fancy Dress Set in many years. Set President Art Wood, not only chose a colorful theme (Camelot and Arthur's Court) and reproduced this in an authentic and artistic manner, but also he selected a lovely Queen Quinevere, in the person of Miss Margaret Beverley Fritsche, of Alexandria, Virginia. The art work of John Chapman and Hack Hayward contributed a great deal toward the excellence of the colorful setting. The music as supplied by Sir Tex Beneke and his orchestra, could not have been better suited to the tastes of the gay court. The Junior Dance, Saturday night, led by President Ed Basset and Miss Peggy Moore from Bluefield, West Virginia, did not relax the high standard set the evening before and Bandmaster Glenn Gray and company, did much to avert the denouement until Monday morning.

Leyburn and Smedley Are Honored By Circle For 'Outstanding' Work

Eleven students, two professors, and five alumni were "tapped" by the Alpha circle Omicron Delta Kappa shortly before one o'clock today. The tapping took place at the conclusion of the second University Assembly of the year, and shared the spotlight with the address of U. S. Senator A. Willis Robertson, himself a member of the national leadership fraternity which was founded here in 1914.

The eleven students honored by ODK today received recognition of their outstanding ability and work in fields which varied from Christian work to varsity athletics. With the other new members of the fraternity, they will be the guests of honor at a luncheon at the Robert E. Lee Hotel immediately following the Assembly.

Two Washington and Lee professors were also among those honored by the local chapter. Dr. T. [illegible] Smedley, "for his unusually outstanding work on the W&L Law Review and for his high standards of [illegible] leadership in the community," and Dr. James G. Leyburn [illegible]
